Chair's Address

Commercial launch – first procedures at Dresden Heart Centre

Dr. Christopher Piorkowski and Dr. Thomas Gaspar performing initial procedures at the Dresden Heart Centre

Active catheter imaging supporting lab adoption

Active Catheter Imaging Provides

- Fluoroscopic-like MR imaging with easily identified catheter tip
- Increased speed for AFL ablations compared to active tracking and mapping
- Enhanced speed of adoption by allowing sites to get started without an active tracking and mapping system from Siemens
- Accelerated adoption for atrial flutter

Lab roll out plans stalled by COVID-19

Key lab Routine clinical procedures commenced in January Dresden: operational Adv-MR installed Haga: 3 Sites with UMC Ams: Adv-MR installed Signed Contracts Adv-MR installed Leipzig: 7 Sites with Agreements in In final stages of the sales process but cannot progress to execution of documentation until the COVID-19 crisis largely passes Final Stages 14 Sites with Well-Progressed Well progressed and in the second half of the sales process Discussions

Dresden and Leipzig established as training Centres of Excellence for sites that follow.

We have now formed three Imricor training and installation teams, therefore expanding our capacity to enable three sites per week to commence clinical procedures if required

Adapting to COVID-19 – launch of first online educational seminar

Master purchasing agreement with Sana

Sana is the largest Group Purchasing Organisation in Germany

- 600 cooperating hospitals and medical institutions across Germany and Switzerland
- 80 of these sites perform cardiac catheter ablations potential Imricor customers
- Streamlines contract negotiations for new sites
- Facilitates access to 80 sites for sales and marketing – supporting our pipeline

Product line expansion - improve gross margin, support expanding indications

Diagnostic Catheter
